

Astrology birthday chart

Jamie, 02 Mar 1983 03:59:00

Sun in zodiac

The Sun generates life as well as producing the light. This planet (also called "Luminary" and "the Star") embodies the center, our ego, core and uniqueness of the individual. The Sun means our personality and how the surrounding world imagines us. What is more, the Sun proclaims an individual's originaive ability and power to struggle with routine problems.

Masculine powers, paternity and other male influences are conducted by the Sun. The Sun also favors children. Its energy is so powerful that it maintains the ascendancy, leadership, tenacity, individuality and spirit. Being influenced by the Star, we find out how to demonstrate ourselves to the world.

The Sun is kinglike, so it keeps and rules the regal authority and the superiors. Luminary also masters our health and wealth. Sun light and beams saturate individuals with strength, inspiration, motivation and power of will. The Sun is the one that regulates the planets and possesses the center in astrological knowledge.

Each sign has approximately a month of the privilege to be visited by the Sun during its annual trip to the 12 signs of the zodiac. The Sun's might is believed to be pure male energy and it guides Leo and the Fifth House.

Pisces Sun Sign

Pisces is the twentieth and the last sign in the hierarchy of zodiac signs.

This sign ends the cycle. This is a very special sign as it contains many characteristics of previous eleven signs, though they rarely unveil that. They are selfless and focused on their inner world. Often, people call them dreamers and enigmatic. They like to live in their own illusory world.

A pair of Fish represents this sign, and so they "go with the stream" and do not make much noise out of nothing. They are dual in all their sensations. They tear themselves in pieces between the reality and dream. Due to this fact they have developed strong intuition. They feel a good piece of confidence by creating their imaginative world. It is their shelter. Still, do not think they would go astray for too long as they are true companions and are eager to help. They may easily put the desires of the others ahead of their own.

They are ruled by a combination of two planets - Jupiter and Neptune, which make them compassionate, easily feeling the pain of others. But their problem is their inability to distinguish between reality and fantasy. They tend to be pessimistic and melancholic. In such occasions, it would better to make a break to realize better what they have to face. Sometimes engaging in arts can help as these identities are quite talented.

Their element is, of course, Water. Their feelings and emotions are of unpredictable origin. Often, they think that others do not understand them. They are too sensitive personalities. Though they may pity themselves, they will always find time for other suffering souls, trying to help them at any rate, forgetting about their own pains and sorrows. As they are true dreamers, they are also romantic, and this fact only betters their personal relationships. They are also gentle and easy-going people.

Fish get relaxed engaging in watersports. According to their element, they like swimming. This process allows them to lessen stress. In love, they are romantic and caring and also quite creative mates.

Pisces are merciful and compassionate personalities. Their great characteristic is their readiness to help the others, creating the most unbelievable ways to achieve that. They are very sensitive and frequently march to their own drummer, but still quite pleasant and kind folk.

Pisces and Independency:

Pisces need a strong-willed partner who would be a ruler of the relations, while these identities are complex in their character tending more to pity themselves. They have a habit of building imaginative walls against the outside events. When having full independence and inspiration, these identities may impress anyone with their tremendous originality. Nevertheless, they aren't capable of keeping it up for long; they utterly require someone's sustention. Rarely can they withstand the loneliness with fine mood. Often, they lose all the happiness and start being melancholic.

Pisces and Friends:

These individualities always stand in the first line to help the other ones. They are extremely dedicated true companions. They commonly have heaps of own troubles, but they'll eagerly forget about them if their friends need aid. Mark that it's not obligatory to let them take all the weight of your difficulties, as they are considered of doing more harm than good (thanks to their huge desire). Having reliable friends, Pisces may be eager to engage in different adventures, novel situations, and other dealings. They are faithful personalities with huge amounts of outstanding ideas.

Pisces and Biz:

These individualities are not satisfactory leaders, in as much as they are too sensual, missing a good deal of orderliness and self-believe. Undoubtedly, those are not the qualities the leader should be possessing. Pisces-born are gifted personalities, showing amazing results in poetry, writing, music and so on. They possess outstanding and universal skills of originality and inspiring others. Notwithstanding, they are unstable and give up without a struggle. Consequently, many of them do not embody their capabilities and giftedness at full strength. They ought to overcome this uncertainty as they possess all qualities for being pacemakers.

Character:

The Pisces identities aren't that easy to be captured. Their individuality is secret and intangible. These identities are highly sensual, receiving tremendous impact from their occupation, which commonly negatively influences their gentle nature. They feel uttermost commiseration for the pain of others. All negative aspects of the world negatively and painfully strike them, and for a long time, and they aren't capable of getting back to their senses. They may be desperately unhappy, or incredibly happy, no middle ground.

Pisces Inside:

More than other ones, these identities possess a huge sense of guessing the level of their intuition is high, and commonly they rather believe their premonition than anything else. They almost aren't able to reject somebody, since they wish to treat the other ones in the way they wish to be treated. It is rarely possible to hear them saying "No!", for they get happy by helping somebody.

These individualities are a huge magnet for trouble attraction. Often, it occurs because of their idleness, melancholic nature and the bad tendency of choosing wrong friends. They require people who would lead their emotional state in order to gain firmness. They are torn into pieces by a continuous conflict between reality and fantasy. They'd rather escape the confrontation than would be attempting to solve it. Their biggest problem is this duality and impossibility to help themselves, as they try to help the others first.

Pisces in a Nutshell:

As it has been already stated that these individualities live a strange duality of the soul - reality and fantasies, stand in a constant struggle, in the state of war, which leads them to undesired misfortunes and make them bitterly suffer. All the feelings and emotions are extremely high, and they live in constant tension. Thanks to their advanced intuition, they can read people like a map, sensing all their pains and troubles, and very soon tie themselves to these problems and pains, forgetting their difficulties and giving out all the energy. This, of course, only makes their situation worse. They are known as highly drug addicted. This can be explained by their sensual nature and their desire to escape all the difficulties by utilizing drugs. Of course, operating with all these statements above, many who would draw a logical conclusion that Pisces may eagerly burst out in tears. In fact, this majority is certainly wrong! Thanks to idleness, they may silently sit and do nothing at all, if the matter isn't essential for them. In occasions, you'll be pretty much surprised how much strength do they put into the matter they believe in. Undoubtedly, this sign is the most sensual among the other ones.

Dating Pisces-Women:

These women are amazingly charming, able to capture a man from the first glance. They are a perfectness for every man, as they are very gentle and effeminate, so weak and unprotected that men, defending such precious, feel themselves the bravest and most honored among all men. Thanks to congenial intuition, they can see right through you, so it's better to give up trying to fool them. In such case, they will not think twice, will not confront you, but simply disappear entirely from your life. They need to foster their man and order him, but for the man's sake only. They'd be acting like decent mothers or careful nurses, watching whether their man had eaten well enough, and had a full rest and so on. In return, the man should defend and pamper them, giving them safe and pure notion that they are really needed and beloved. They also require patience and empathy, receiving gentle treatment. Do not play jokes when they are serious, do not dangle and repudiate them, for they cannot withstand that. They tend to be extremely romantic and will be lost in the relations. Thanks to their utter effeminacy, tenderness, and solicitude, they are a perfect match for every real man.

Dating Pisces-Men:

The most attractive feature of men Pisces is their uttermost romanticism. If you are a woman who is seeking for a sensual man than this type is undoubtedly yours. But do not fly high in the skies as such man stop loving you when he realizes that there is no perfect woman. Well, none is perfect, but Pisces-men live in a half-realistic world, dreaming of such woman. You ought to be the woman that would bring such men back to the Earth. They constantly think they only meet wrong women that make them unhappy. Be a strong woman that can rule such men with a firm hand. Make them feel comfortable and safe. Clear their mind from the dust of dark and unhappy thoughts. Such men require empathy, sensuality, and care, and afterward, you'll receive all back redoubled. Summarizing all written, you ought to be a combination of a strong-willed and sensual woman.

Attraction for Pisces:

These identities may get slightly lost in a conversation. Do not hasten when cooperating with them, lessen the pressure. When they feel full trust on you, depend on you and tell you their secrets, you will see how tender they are, and they are pretty positive and joyful. Suggest them something, and they will eagerly join you doing this. Speak on intriguing, a bit abnormal topics, discussing different thoughts and make them laugh. They will be impressed hearing unexpected things and oddities. In such a way, you'll receive an opportunity to get closer to them. They adore receiving compliments so that you may praise them 24 hours round the clock and they will be extremely happy and relaxed. Be sensual, kind and munificent. Make them feel secure and convenient. They'll note that, and everything will run just fine.

Pisces Erogenous Zones:

If you desire to hit for one hundred percent shot for their physical pleasure mind their feet - the most erogenous zone. Make a sensual massage and be sure you'll get them entirely. They will feel the thirst for you.

Sex with Pisces:

Allow Pisces switch on their imagination, and you'll experience both - physical and emotional satisfaction. They adore role-playing, in as much as they are creative individualities. They let themselves get lost the game of changing roles. They adore going risk, thirsty for different collisions and challenges. These identities are fun partners with whom you'll learn of pretty uncommon and even unknown things. Boring in bed? That's not about Pisces.

Sun in house

The Sun in houses points at the spheres of our life, where the vivid vibrations are supposed to be centered. The Sun can relate to any house and makes the meaning of that house clearer and brighter. It is manifested specifically for each Sun sign. During life, you can always feel the powerful energy provided by the Sun. The aim of the house may be to concentrate and motivate you on important decisions.

Sun produces energy and creates proper living conditions, rather than adapts to them. Considering this, we can manage and change the vector of our lives. You need to understand it's only you who identifies the area of success in life; as soon as you've made your choice, the Sun will help you succeed and will light up the areas in your life you need to pay attention to and act confidently.

We have to be careful and not penetrate deeply into the spheres, emphasized by the particular house of the Sun. We may face obstacles, and just because we are too concerned on this feature, it can damage our ego or hurt our pride. The Sun in the sixth house shows an importance of career, and if it is expressed negatively, a person can dive so deeply into work that all the free time will seem useless and pointless for such a person.

Sun in 2nd house

The Sun in the second house provides material direction of a person's mind. All the benefits you can imagine are the desire and motivation for you to obtain. You feel a real need for security of different kinds: financial, personal, physical. You value comfort and are ready to work for it. It is important for you to run your life, to feel control and financial well-being. The reason for such striving for finances is not something bad; it is about your independence. It is just manifested this way. This desire for independence makes your material success not simply desirable, but possible. Mostly, all money you earn is spent easily and with great pleasure. You can become a spendthrift. Try to control this feature, so it won't damage you. Everyone deserves pleasure. If you get it while making and spending money, it is your choice, but pay attention to the things you really need or can be profitable for you. However, you are open-handed and sincere. You understand people and willingly help them. Your generosity and openness in combination with desire to control things are the characteristics that can help you reach your global aim.